

11 March – 19 March 2013
3rd Batch from Singapore

Rumour has it.

- The agricultural sector and tourism sector in Japan has been greatly affected by the misreporting from the media and malicious rumours about the radiation level.
- Through this trip, we gained a better insight of the current situation in different prefectures of Japan.
- Help spreading the correct information is the start to restoring the confidence of the local community.

Learning experience.

Every individual that we met in Japan greeted us with open arms and full smiles, even after all the negativity that they have went through.

The optimism of the locals in the disaster areas will be something that we will never forget.

Connection between the Kizuna Project participants and the locals from the disaster areas.

Through this journey...

The bonds of friendship blossomed.

A photograph of a busy city street in Japan, likely Shibuya, with a semi-transparent text box overlaid. The background shows a crosswalk, traffic lights, and buildings. The text box contains the Japanese phrase 'ありがとうございました!' (Thank you very much!).

ありがとうございました!

Having been greatly inspired by their strength and resilience, we wish to adopt such values in our lives as well, and also as a message that we wish to pass on to everyone we meet.
