

About the exhibition

Japan Creative Centre is pleased to present "My Cosmos: From my room to my world", a solo exhibition by renowned Japanese architect Toyo Ito.

A recipient of prestigious awards such as the Golden Lion for Lifetime Achievement from the 8th International Exhibition and the Royal Gold Medal from the Royal Institute of British Architects, Toyo Ito explores the architecture of the 21st century that goes beyond modernism's purity and machine analogy, transcending architecture through autopoietic processes and organic geometries into life-forms that reflect nature.

Join us at the Japan Creative Centre and embark in a journey into Toyo Ito's cosmos!

Most of the modern cities we know are dominated by homogeneous skyscrapers, constructed from the orthogonal grid system. The "Cosmos" is no where to be found within these architecture. Where has it gone? My desire is to create a sustainable global environment by restoring the relationship between architecture and nature, enabling architecture to regain its own cosmos. I hope that someday my ideal cosmos will become the cosmos for human beings.....
