Tomoko Koderu

TOMOKO KODERA | JAPAN (NEW)

Tomoko Koderu received the “HRD” Award in 2015, and is the first Japanese woman to receive this award for her work “Momigara” that looks like rice husks. Another of her other masterpieces “Obento-Bako” was inspired by the bento box. Aside from her art works, she also produces commercial jewellery, where she focuses on curves and flows of individual body parts. And she created the 15 DEGREES Ring, a bridal brand, named after the ring especially for left ring finger that is tilted 15 degrees. The moderate degree flows on the finger and emerges as if the blessing road a couple will walk from now and forever.

Jewellery featured are:

1. One of Tomoko Koderu’s signature “Ohamami Bento”

ANCREA | JAPAN

Ancrea was coined from 'A', which indirectly represents being unique and singular, while 'Crea' comes from being creative, which is the essence of our design philosophy. Our pieces reflect important moments and memories of our loved ones through the use of rare gems and precious metals as a form of gratitude towards Mother Earth.

Jewellery featured

1. "Traditional Beauty" Necklace with Red Amber (with the application of the Japanese Maki-e technique) set with Diamonds in 18K Yellow Gold
2. "The Wing" Necklace with 2.08 cts Mandarin Garnet, set in 18K White Gold with Tanzanite, Pink Sapphire and Diamonds
3. Choker made with the motif of Japanese Sukiya-style house. Light and stronger than it looks because of the truss structure used for architecture. By combining simple geometric lines, it creates diamonds' soft glow from the inside.
4. "The Earth" Pendant with 2.85cts Black Opal set in 18K White Gold with Tanzanite and Diamonds
